

RIGHT YOU ARE.
(Freeman and Plaindealer.)
In the North men are condemned to suffer the extreme penalty of the law for urging men on by anarchistic utterances to the destruction of life and property. In the South they murder and outrage a people and yet go escaped of justice. Copiah and Carrollton are yet unavenged, yet there exist laws even there against the destruction of life.—Detroit Plaindealer.
Very true. The Anarchists are hunted down and punished by the officers of the State, who are backed up by the public opinion of the State. Law is simply crystallized public opinion. Until the public opinion of the States of the South frowns upon such villainies as those enacted at Copiah and Carrollton the law against murder there will remain inoperative. Our main duty is therefore to labor to create this healthy public opinion. To do this we must pay less attention to National politics and more to State politics.
